Background and Contribution

Kevin is the Tax Partner at Johnsen Archer LLP, a firm of Chartered Professional Accountants providing accounting and tax services to the public. He has been in the business for over 20 years. His primary area of expertise is taxation but his knowledge and experience includes other areas such as financial reporting, financing, mergers and acquisitions, and other advisory matters. His primary clients are owner-managed businesses but he also advises non-profit organizations in connection with his practice. Kevin focusses on problem solving and brings a common sense approach in doing so. Kevin avoids micro-managing people and prefers to provide great coaching and advice to allow others to expand their knowledge and experience organically. He believes in constant learning and continues to do so at Options, even after nearly 15 years serving on the Board.
